

Children Public Law Update (July 2013)

An update for Family Law Week

24th July 2013

Barristers

John Tughan QC

In this article John considers recent decisions relating to the following areas of public law practice:

- two cases on the issue of whether a vulnerable child witness should give evidence;
- the test for the instruction of expert evidence
- a further example of a costs order against a local authority, and
- a brief reminder of the recent Supreme Court decision which ranges over a number of important areas.

To view the full article click here

Author

John Tughan QC

Source

Family Law Week