

Jo Delahunty QC

8th September 2015

We are pleased to welcome Jo Delahunty QC back to chambers. Jo has now concluded her full-time role on behalf of 75 of the families bereaved by the Hillsborough disaster.

Based once more at 4PB and now being instructed in family cases, Jo will continue to represent her 10 clients in their individual inquests, which end in October.

In addition to complex NAI matters which have been the hallmark of her practice, Jo has recently been instructed by both Tower Hamlets and Bradford to represent them in cases involving alleged radicalised families facing investigations for terrorist acts and where the impact on the family is a central concern.
