Profile

Harry joined Chambers following successful completion of his pupillage under the supervision of Michael Gratton, Stephen Lyon and Chris Barnes. He now accepts instructions in all of Chambers' core practice areas and has appeared at all levels of the family courts up to and including the High Court.

Before joining Chambers, Harry worked at the Court of Appeal of England and Wales as the judicial assistant to Lady Justice Black DBE (as she then was) and Lord Justice Moylan, the immediate past and current Head of International Family Justice. Harry also worked as a case management lawyer in the Civil Appeals Office, providing assistance to the specialist family Lords and Lady Justices of Appeal.

Harry therefore has considerable experience of dealing with cases raising complex and novel points of law, particularly those with an international element.

During his studies, Harry undertook a traineeship in the Office of the President of the European Court of Human Rights. Harry has also worked in politics as a Parliamentary Assistant for a Birmingham MP, and as a volunteer on President Obama's 2012 re-election campaign in the key swing state of Ohio.

In his spare time, Harry enjoys watching football and ice hockey and mountain walking in Snowdonia.
