

Imogen Forrester

Legal Assistant

Imogen joined Chambers in May 2023. In her role Imogen assists members on a wide range of both financial and children matters. Her role includes legal research on complex points of law, assisting with drafting documents and case preparation.

Prior to joining Chambers, Imogen worked as a paralegal for a boutique London family law firm specialising in high net worth financial remedy cases and children matters often with multi-jurisdictional elements.

Imogen studied Law at Queen Mary University of London and graduated in 2019. She then completed the Bar Professional Training Course with a Masters in Law at BBP University London in 2021 with a distinction, completing a final dissertation on modernising surrogacy law in the UK.

Outside of Chambers Imogen enjoys travelling, reading and cooking.
