

Financial Remedies Essay Competition 2024

4PB is thrilled to announce the return of its Financial Remedies Essay Competition for the second year, a testament to our commitment to nurturing excellence and innovation in the field of financial remedies. As a leading family law set, we recognise the value of continuous learning and the exchange of ideas for the advancement of family law practice. With this opportunity, 4PB aims to encourage current law students, as well as those who have completed their studies and are actively seeking pupillage, to explore the realm of Financial Remedies law in hope that they will be inspired to consider a practice in this area of law.

The title for this year's essay is:

“The law on maintenance should be reformed to provide for a formulaic approach.”

Answer in no more than 1,000 words (excluding citing sources and references).
